PART I

WHEREAS, in 1913, the City of Los Angeles completed an aqueduct from Owens Valley to the city. The aqueduct had a capacity of 480 cubic feet per second (cfs). In 1970, a second aqueduct with a capacity of 300 cfs was completed and began operating, bringing the total capacity of the aqueduct system to about 780 cfs. Los Angeles' operations to supply water to the second aqueduct, including the pumping of groundwater in Owens Valley, led to the commencement of litigation in 1972 by Inyo County against Los Angeles; and

WHEREAS, in the litigation, the County stated that Los Angeles' increased groundwater pumping was harming the environment of Owens Valley and sought a court order requiring that the practice be analyzed in an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) in accordance with the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). In 1973, the Court of Appeal for the Third Appellate District ruled that Los Angeles must prepare such an EIR. Los Angeles prepared an EIR in 1976 and another in 1979, but the Appellate Court found both to be legally inadequate; and

WHEREAS, in 1980, the Inyo County Board of Supervisors drafted, and the Inyo County voters passed, "An Ordinance to Regulate the Extraction of Groundwater Within the Owens Valley Groundwater Basin" (Ordinance). The Ordinance called for the regulation of groundwater pumping in the valley in accordance with a groundwater management plan to be implemented through a groundwater pumping permit procedure. A primary purpose of the Ordinance was to protect the environment, citizens and economy of the Owens Valley from adverse effects resulting from the extraction and use of its water resources; and

WHEREAS, the Ordinance established the Inyo County Water Commission and the Inyo County Water Department; and

WHEREAS, by Resolution 80-126, adopted in December 1980, this Board provided for the appointment, compensation and meetings of the Inyo County Water Commission, and thereafter appointed the five members of the commission; and

WHEREAS, in 1982, the County, Los Angeles and its Department of Water and Power (DWP) entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) which created a Technical Group and a Standing Committee to work together to resolve disputes between the parties. The MOU provided that the County's representatives to the Technical Group would be County staff members, and that the County's representatives to the Standing Committee would be at least one County supervisor, no more than two Water Commissioners, and three County staff members; and

WHEREAS, in July 1983, as a result of litigation commenced by Los Angeles and DWP, the Inyo County Superior Court in case number 12908 issued an opinion that found the Ordinance unconstitutional, invalid and preempted by law and that enjoined the implementation of the Ordinance. Pursuant to stipulation of the parties, neither an injunction, nor a final judgment based on the Court's opinion has been entered in the Superior Court; and

WHEREAS, in 1983, following the Superior Court's decision invalidating Inyo County's Ordinance, the County and Los Angeles began an attempt to develop a groundwater management plan whose purpose would be to settle the litigation between the parties. In April 1984, Inyo County and Los Angeles approved a five-year interim agreement. In this interim agreement the two parties agreed to:

- o settle then existing property tax litigation between Inyo County and Los Angeles;
- o temporarily suspend the Superior Court's judgment, and hence Inyo County's appeal, concerning the invalidity of the Ordinance;
- o temporarily suspend litigation on Inyo County's CEQA proceeding in the Court of Appeal and mandatory court-imposed pumping restrictions by substituting jointly developed annual pumping programs and jointly prepared environmental assessments;
- o lease Owens Valley town water systems to Inyo County, which would result in a reduction in water rates;
- o conduct cooperative studies, together with impartial third parties, including the United States Geological Survey;
- o implement certain enhancement/mitigation projects;
- o provide financial assistance to Inyo County from Los Angeles to cover the costs of various studies and the County's water-related activities;

- o negotiate a long-term groundwater management plan;
- o resume the Appellate Court CEQA litigation and the Superior Court litigation over the Ordinance's validity if the parties did not develop and adopt a long-term groundwater management plan for Owens Valley; and

WHEREAS, in December 1984, the Appellate Court allowed Los Angeles and Inyo County to implement the interim agreement. However, the Court specifically explained that its order to prepare an EIR remained in effect and that, if Inyo County and Los Angeles were to agree on a long-term groundwater management plan, the plan would have to be analyzed in Los Angeles' third EIR, together with Los Angeles' operations to supply water to its second aqueduct; and

WHEREAS, by Resolution 85-2, adopted in January 1985, this Board adopted policies and procedures to govern Inyo County's performance of its duties and obligations under the interim agreement. This resolution modified the role of the Inyo County Water Commission from that specified in Resolution 80-126; and

WHEREAS, in August 1989, Inyo County, Los Angeles and DWP reached preliminary agreement on long-term water management and began the preparation of a final environmental impact report (FEIR) on the plan and on Los Angeles' operations to supply water to its second aqueduct; and

WHEREAS, since reaching the preliminary agreement in 1989, Inyo County and DWP have managed the water resources of the Owens Valley in accordance with the provisions of the long-term water management agreement (Long Term Agreement or Agreement). As provided in the Agreement, the Technical Group and the Standing Committee represent the parties in the implementation of the Agreement; and

WHEREAS, in October 1991, this Board approved the Long Term Agreement and certified the FEIR on the Agreement. Also, in October 1991, Los Angeles and DWP approved the Agreement and the FEIR. Los Angeles presented the FEIR to the Appellate Court, together with requests that the Court find the FEIR adequate and that it discharge the order requiring the preparation of an FEIR; and

WHEREAS, in January 1993, the Appellate Court declined to discharge its order requiring the preparation of an FEIR and sought the views of certain state agencies, environmental groups and an individual as amicus curiae concerning the adequacy of the FEIR; and

WHEREAS, in June 1993, the Standing Committee adopted a "Statement of Intent" which provided procedures to be followed by Inyo County and Los Angeles "until such time as the Appellate Court discharges its Writ." In January 1994, this Board adopted Resolution No. 94-6, which established policies and procedures for implementing the Inyo County's water policy and to govern the County's performance of its duties and responsibilities under the Agreement and the Statement of Intent; and

WHEREAS, by Resolution 94-6, adopted in January 1994, this Board reaffirmed its policy concerning the extraction and use of the County's water resources, adopted policies and procedures to implement the policy and to govern Inyo County's performance of its duties and obligations under the Standing Committee's Statement of Intent and under the Long Term Agreement. This resolution modified the role of the Inyo County Water Commission from that specified in Resolutions 80-126 and 85-2; and

WHEREAS, in February 1997, Inyo County, Los Angeles, and DWP reached a settlement agreement, titled a "Memorandum of Understanding" (MOU), with the California State Lands Commission, the California Department of Fish and Game, the Sierra Club and the Owens Valley Committee which resolved their concerns over the adequacy of the FEIR. On June 2, 1997, the Appellate Court granted a motion by Los Angeles and Inyo County, which was based on the MOU, and ended the litigation over the FEIR. On June 13, 1997, the Long Term Agreement was entered as a final order by the Inyo County Superior Court. These actions allowed the full implementation of the Long Term Agreement, the mitigation measures contained in the FEIR, and the provisions of the MOU; and

WHEREAS, by Resolution 97-82, adopted in November 1997, this Board reaffirmed its policy concerning the extraction and use of the County's water resources, adopted policies and procedures to implement the policy and to govern Inyo County's performance of its duties and obligations under the Long Term Agreement, the Final EIR and the MOU. This resolution repealed Resolutions 80-126, 85-2; and 94-6; and

WHEREAS, on October 27, 1998, this Board adopted Inyo County Ordinance No. 1004 which, through a conditional use permit procedure administered by the County Planning Commission, with recommendations from the Water Commission in water related areas, regulates:

1. Any water transfer from the unincorporated area of Inyo County undertaken pursuant to Water Code Section 1810 et seq.
2. Any sale to the City of Los Angeles, or an acquisition by the City of Los Angeles by means other than a sale, of surface water or groundwater extracted or diverted from within Inyo County.
3. Any transfer or transport of groundwater extracted from a groundwater basin located in whole or in part within the boundaries of Inyo County, for use in an area outside of the groundwater basin.
4. Any transfer or transport of groundwater extracted from within Inyo County from a groundwater basin partially located within Inyo County, for use in an area within the same basin, but outside the boundaries of Inyo County.

WHEREAS, in the fall of 1998, this Board conducted two public workshops concerning the future role of the Water Commission; and

WHEREAS, the intent of this resolution is to reaffirm the County's policy on the extraction and use of water, to set forth policies and procedures for the implementation of this policy, and policies and procedures that will govern the County's performance of its responsibilities under the Inyo County/Los Angeles Long Term Water Agreement, the Final Environmental Impact Report, the Memorandum of Understanding and Inyo County Ordinance 1004, including the role of the Water Commission with regard to such matters.

PART 2

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that, in consideration of the circumstances described in Part 1, this Board establishes the following policies and procedures to protect the County's environment, citizens and economy from adverse effects resulting from the extraction and use of the County's water resources and to govern the County's performance of its duties and responsibilities under the Long Term Agreement, FEIR, MOU and Ordinance No. 1004.
